

KLOVE is a radio station that my wife and I have supported for the last few years and fully believe in its abilities to change people's lives.

Radio programming is starting to sound like television – a constant attack on the ethics and morals that created this country and are founded in Christianity. My wife and I want our children to be able to listen to a radio station where the lyrics, themes and radio personalities do not have to be censored or constantly monitored for content. KLOVE provides such a radio station.

Where can people turn when their lives are in disarray? KLOVE provides an outlet for people who are suffering. These people can call a 1-800 number any time of the day and talk to someone who can offer them REAL help and is genuinely interested in their well-being. So many other radio programs have turned into the Jerry Springer of radio and serve only to belittle and further dehumanize people who are reaching out for help.

As time goes on, there is less and less place for Christianity in the USA. Please leave KLOVE alone and let them to offer a glimmer of hope to those who need it as well as provide a general uplifting feeling to those, who are having a bad day and hear one of the many songs on KLOVE and all of a sudden, the day is better.

Sincerely,

The Cramer Family (Kevin, Heather, Caleb and Teagan)
